McKenzie Rides Again (KGO) -- Dr. Mary McKenzie has been a pioneer in the field of traumatic brain injury treatment for decades. Two weeks ago, she helped be part of a study that just won a $6.3 million grant to continue her research. New research conducted by McKenzie and her team shows that a portable magnetic brain stimulation technology could be used to help people suffering from head injuries who can't talk or walk. "It's extremely exciting for me and I'm delighted to have the opportunity to lead such an effort," said McKenzie. And the 10-year grant she just got to study it is just the latest honor for the renowned neurosurgeon. She's a recipient of the Congressional Black Caucus f988f36e3a
